Waltham Forest parks and open spaces

Foreword

Waltham Forest has the most green space of any London borough north of the Thames, and we want you to make the most of this and enjoy what’s on offer right on your doorstep.

You’ve told us better leisure facilities are one of your top priorities, so we have spent £2million on improving play areas and invested further in a range of parks, including Leyton Jubilee Park, Drapers Field and Abbotts Park.

We are committed to giving you and your family access to better leisure facilities by providing you with high quality parks and open spaces, with many featuring a variety of outdoor play activities for children of all ages to enjoy.

So why not take a stroll down to your local park this weekend and discover how we have improved your local area and are making Waltham Forest an even better place for you and your family to live.

Chris Robbins
Leader of Waltham Forest Council
Leyton Jubilee Park, the borough’s largest park, is now an outdoor sporting hub with mini and junior football pitches, a basketball court and a brand new changing pavilion. In addition the play offer has been substantially increased with a range of new equipment for all ages.

The park still serves as a thriving habitat for wildlife. Wildflower has been planted along The Avenue and we have our very own mini nature reserve in the form of The Plateau. Teaming with birds, insects and animals, it’s the perfect place for a relaxing stroll.
